

Intermediate Quantity Surveyor – NEC Projects

- Feel constrained or frustrated?
- Looking to develop your career and talents?
- Have a passion for excellence?

We have an answer.

GVE Commercial Solutions is expanding.

We are looking to appoint an intermediate consultant quantity surveyor who is looking to develop by joining our existing team and taking a role in the expansion of the company by delivering high quality professional services.

Applicants need to clearly demonstrate that they have:

- Appropriate qualifications
- Sound knowledge of NEC
- A minimum of 3 years' experience in applying this knowledge of NEC hands-on

You will need to show that you have had experience in successful NEC projects of significant value and have exercised judgement and initiative.

Your experience with NEC will reflect a sound and solid start to your career. You will have worked in a large contractor, a large sub-contractor or in a commercial consultancy taking part in some of:

- Sub-contract procurement and management
- Identification of and assessment of change
- Regular monthly commercial reporting

You will be able to work on your own initiative and work as part of a team. You will need to be able to work under pressure and to potentially work on a number of projects at the same time.

You will be commercially alert and able to spot and flag up opportunities that can be converted into billable projects.

You will also be able to form and develop sustainable long-term relationships with our clients.

Our competitive remuneration and benefits package will reflect the importance and seniority of this appointment.

Qualifications: Degree level

Location: London and SE England. (Essex, Kent, Surrey, Middlesex, Sussex).
